
Title: Daemon Tome

Author: Dakkon

You see a picture of a
daemon devouring a
man 's flesh

Daemons. They are
powerful creatures,
who serve Oblivion
unquestioningly in
their crusade of death
and suffering.

Several powerful
mages have been able to call forth from the Netherworld, these
mighty beasts to carry
out their own tasks.

Those Daemons in the
wild, however exist
only to kill. There are very few Daemons in
this plane of existence. Some have been seen in the
mage's city of Wind,
but only on rare

occasions. Daemons
are usually killed on
sight, for anyone in
their right mind

knows that a daemon
would not hesitate to
attack anyone near
them. I myself have
have never seen a Daemon, but those
who have, and were
not strong enough to defeat it, did not live
through the

encounter. Some sad
souls are trapped
wandering in vast
maze-like tunnels
deep underground
searching for a way to the surface and life.

I doubt they shall ever
find their way,
however. Those who
defeated Daemons,
were usually
rewarded with about
six hundred gold
pieces, and some scrolls of magic. I
know of very few
people who have
without help from
others, and if you are
wandering alone in the mountain lands that
bleed molten lava like
the blood of dying
bodies, be wary for
the glint of the
Daemoniac Sword,
which will surely cut
you down.

Take heed of my
warnings, and
darkness be with
you...
